

Secrets of the Movies Revealed

Q.—What are the two distinct processes in writing a photoplay?
A.—No. 1 is the original story or synopsis. No. 2 is the continuity. The writing of the original story or synopsis may be done by anyone who can create original story plots. It requires no particular technique nor any intimate professional knowledge of the movies. It is from this synopsis that the continuity is prepared. The continuity is the arrangement of the original story into scenes and which is for the use of the director in the making of the picture. Writing the continuity is a very technical job and should not be attempted unless one has had considerable studio experience.

Q.—What is the real name of John Henry, Jr., the famous baby in Mack Sennett comedies?
A.—John Henry is little but he is big enough to have a screen name all his own. At home he is known as Don Marion Davis.
Q.—Is Ben Turpin married?
A.—Very much girls and for 10, these many years.
Q.—What famous screen star weighs just twice as much as his wife?
A.—Patty Arbuckle has an awful advantage over Mrs. Arbuckle when it comes to a mere matter of weight. As Arbuckle weighs 350 pounds the amateur Einstein's among our readers will be able to figure out what his wife, Minta Durfee, weighs.
Q.—How many times has Tom

Mix been married?
A.—Tom is now married to Victoria Forde, a retired movie actress. His first wife from whom he is divorced was Olive Stokes.
What are three essentials in a film story. If you are one of the many who are interested in scenario writing you should read the answer to this question in this department tomorrow.

20 Girls Tearfully Tell Of Noted Sculptor's Plan To Ruin Their Characters

By United Press.
BERLIN, June 22.—The alleged amours of George Ahrens, sculptor, were related in court here today by 20 girls who declared he attempted to ruin their lives.

Rich, athletic and handsome, Ahrens speedily listened to the statements of the pretty girls who told their stories, tearfully or boldly, as the judges asked for descriptions of bacchanalian parties in Ahrens' studio or Westerland Villa.

There were poor girls in shabby dresses and cotton stockings and pert girls in silks, cut to the latest fashions. But all of them were pretty and all of them shapely, chosen by a famous sculptor with a sure eye for graceful limbs and figures.

Held Two Years.
Ahrens is a man of about 50. His alleged offenses occurred two years ago, since when he has been held in "examination imprisonment" awaiting his hearing.

Ahrens revealed nothing of his defense today as the evidence piled up against him.

Meantime many of the girls named in the charges against the sculptor have become ballet dancers, movie actresses and models, only a few failing to make use of their blonde or brunette beauty to earn a living.

Employed As Models.
According to their stories they were employed at different times as models in Ahrens' studio. If the girl pleased him he made the customary approaches with the offer of money, with dinners and wines.

The girls personally showed little resentment against Ahrens. One blonde, whose brown eyes looked squarely at her questioner, as she said:

"Well, he didn't drive us to the street. We all have jobs and we're getting along."

FT. WAYNE MAN AFRAID TO EAT

Foreman of Bass Foundry and Machine Co. Says Six Years of Trouble Is Over.

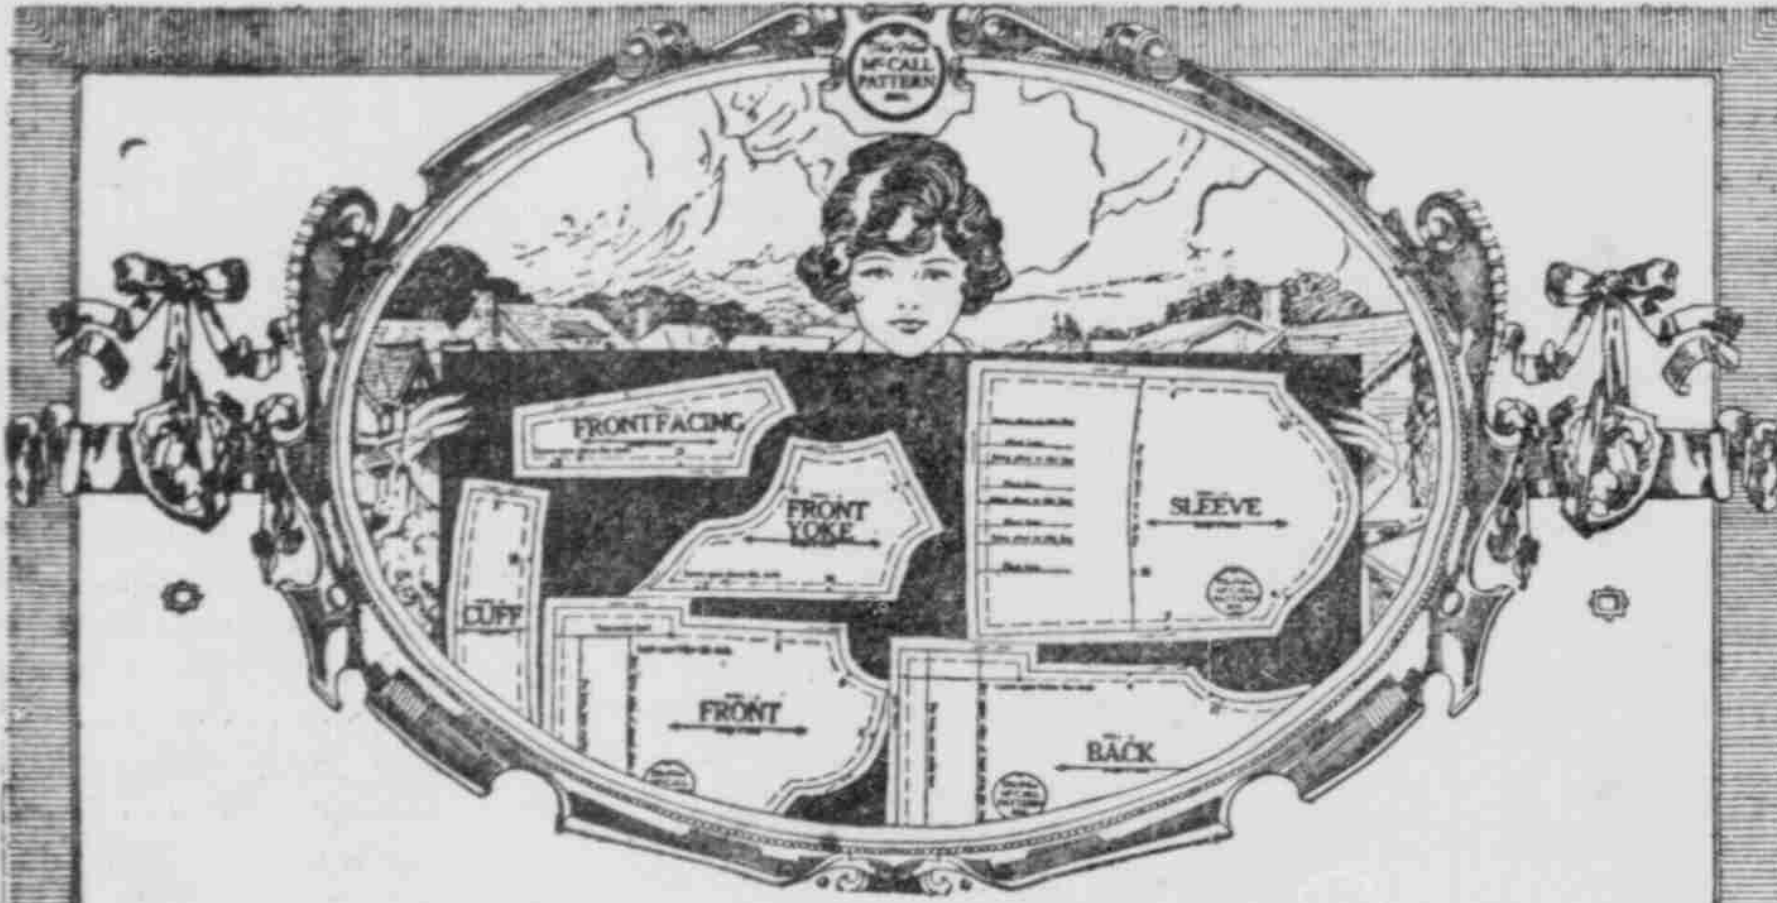

"I was on the verge of a breakdown and was advised to take a long rest, but I took Tanlac instead, stuck to the job and am feeling fine now," said William R. Ellert, 1313 Tecumseh St., Fort Wayne, Ind., who for a number of years was foreman of the Bass Foundry and Machine Co.

"For six years my health had been gradually slipping, and just before I took Tanlac I was in such an awful fix I often gave out at my work in the middle of the day. I had no appetite and nearly always brought home with me what I took in my dinner pail, as I was actually afraid to eat my dinner and dreaded the spell of indigestion that was sure to follow. My nerves were so unstrung my whole body jerked at times, and I was so restless at night I got very little sleep. In the mornings I used to get up feeling miserable and often with sick headache and feeling all worn out."

"One of the boys at the shop tipped me off to Tanlac and it certainly was lucky for me that I took his advice. My appetite is fine now, my stomach seems like a new one and my nerves are calm and steady. I am brimful of energy these days and there isn't a man in my crew at the shop who can outwork me. I certainly am a believer in Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in South Bend by the Central Drug Store and leading druggists.

WINDS PREVENT NON-STOP FLIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 22.—A heavy fog and an adverse wind today prevented David R. Davis, wealthy sportsman, and Eric Springer, pilot, from starting what they planned to be a non-stop airplane flight from Los Angeles to New York. Their huge plane, which Davis terms the "Davis Transcontinental," has been stocked with fuel and provisions last night.

"We found after a flight made by a naval observer, that atmospheric conditions were bad," said Springer today.

"We did not want to take chances on wrecking the big machine in rough fields and will wait for an hour longer. If the wind doesn't change we will postpone the start until tomorrow morning."

CALA CONFESSES KILLING KABER

CLEVELAND, O., June 22.—Salvatore Cala, indicted for the killing of Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy publisher, was arraigned before Judge Maurice Bernon this morning. An interpreter was called in to translate the charge into Italian.

When asked how he wished to plead, Cala replied in Italian: "Yes, I killed him." A plea of not guilty was entered. Cala said he had no money and Judge Bernon will later appoint counsel to prepare his defense.
